About the Project:

The Parent Empowerment Project (PEP), a project led and driven by parents of children with different abilities, who are clients of the Westside Regional Center.

We seek to reduce the racial and ethnic disparities for individuals and families served by the Westside Regional Center (WRC) through the provision of materials, training, advocacy, outreach, and community building activities.

This project will work with stakeholders, the WRC Equity Task Force and staff to implement the project.

Access – Equity - Inclusion
Diversity

Our Vision:

A future in which all clients of WRC are linked to services and supports that assist in reaching a meaningful and independent life, through family-centered planning.

We are here to empower you and your family.
